Evidence of the Growing Importance of North Carolina's Popular Resorts, Wrightsville and Carolina Beaches-Approaching Season Will be Big One.

The rapidly approaching season will unquestionably be the best in the history of Wrightsville and Carolina Beaches, the delightful summer resorts in close proximity to Wilmington. Practically every organization of importance will meet at Wilmington and Wrightsville between June 1st, and September 1st, among which are United Commercial Travelers the Carolinas, the North Caro-Press Association, North Car-Good Roads Association; Association; Medical Society, State Dental Society, the Bar Association, the Bankers' Association, State Coun-Association, cil. The extension is built on concrete piers. and is connected with the old part of the hotel by spacious verandas. Of equal, if not greater importance is the extensive improvements at the Seashore Hotel, Mr. Edgar L. Hinton, manager. A steel pier has been constructed from the rear entrance of the hotel to extend 700 feet out into the ocean. The Dier is 30 feet wide the greater part of its length and out at the end is 50-feet wide. At the end of the pier will be erected a two-story building to be used for concerts, dances and other forms of amusement. The roof of the building will be used as observation veranda, from which a fine view of the beach can be had. The pier is really a continuation of the hotel veranda. The pier will be greatly patronized by fishforms of amusement mentioned above. Besides the pier, the Seash-:re has enlarged its capacity by the addition of 80 rooms, in a wing extending to the north of the other part along the ocean front. With this addition the Seashore Hotel now has 250 well equipped rooms

A prettier custom prevails among the Ooraon maids, who, at stated intervals, assemble in the market place. In front of each is a lighted lamp, an emblem of conjuga! tidelity. A young man feels attracted and gently blows upon the fiame, extinguishing it. When the girl relights it, it is a rejectment; if she allows the lamp to go unlighted, however, the suitor is acceptable.

Wise Elephants.

Elephants, those animal sages that are constantly changing keepers, be come so wise and know so much about the tricks of the trade and human nature in general that they finally will not work for any man. It is doubtful if there is a bull elephant more than fifty years old performing in this country. They have not "gone bad," as the showmen say, but have learned too much, picked up from their keepers. and they cannot be worked with safety. An elephant that is going to make trouble turns his back on his intended victim and begins to swing his great body from side to side. nursery rhyme for a great eratorical hit. In one of his speeches be was criticising Lord Beaconsfield and Lord Salisbury on their return from Berlin, where they had been carrying on negotiations with Bismarck. Both had made speeches explaining their actions, and one of them in the course of his oratory used the "if" so many times as to give themberlain a chance in his reply to make one of those popular allusions which are remembered longer than any logic. "What the honorable gentleman has said," be remarked, "remind me of a rhyme I learned from my nurse: "If all the seas were bread and cheese,

If all the rivers were ink. If all the lakes were current cakes, What should we have to drink?" The effect on the audience was tremendous. No one ever forgot that "if." An Essay on Catz. A schoolboy wrote an essay on cats.
